The seller agrees to obtain the price set by the consignee for each item, and will sell the item for nothing less than the set price. (Unless otherwise agreed upon by both parties)

For each of the consignee's item that the seller sells:

The consignee must be given 80% of the profit. (That is double what any of our local competitors is willing pay.) The consignee will be given the opportunity to keep 90% of the profit, if he/she chooses to accept store credit instead of cash.
